I.O.O.F. DANCE REAL SUCCESS

Tuesday evening, October 31st, the Elite Theatre was the scene of much gaiety when a large crowd turned out to the Halloween dance sponsored by the I.O.O.F. Lodge.

The hall was very prettily decorated and "Mildred's Melody Makers" supplied music of such tantalizing quality that neither old nor young could resist its strains.

During the evening a "spot" dance was won by Doug. Wallace and Lois McKay and the prize for the best waltzers went to Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Hannah.

During the course of the evening balloons, which were suspended from the ceiling, were cut loose and a mad scramble for them resulted in them being broken before the dancers had time to realize just what was happening.

At midnight a delicious lunch was served and directly afterwards novelties were distributed and the fun was at its height during this time. Dancing continued until the early hours of the morning and the evening was voted a success by all.

C.W.L. DELEGATES GIVE REPORT OF CONVENTION

A splendid meeting of the local C.W.L. gathered at the home of Mrs. A. Horne when the report of the visiting delegates to the C.W.L. Convention held at Camrose recently, was given. The president, Mrs. Tolmie and Mrs. Martin, were profuse in their remarks about the convention and brought back a glowing report of the work of the League in the province.

A delightful lunch was served to the members after the regular meeting.

NOTICE

To the Merchants of Wainwright:
By Act of Parliament the 11th of November (Armistice Day or Remembrance Day), on no matter what day of the week it may fall, has been proclaimed a holiday.

For many years the Canadian Legion strove to have this day recognized as a holiday by Dominion Statute and their efforts were finally successful.

Remembrance Day—November 11—possibly the greatest day the world has ever seen; certainly the greatest day that any one living today has seen or ever will see.

This year this great anniversary falls on a Saturday and an effort is being made by certain people to open their stores and thus introduce the thin end of a wedge which will ultimately destroy all that the day signifies and commemorates.

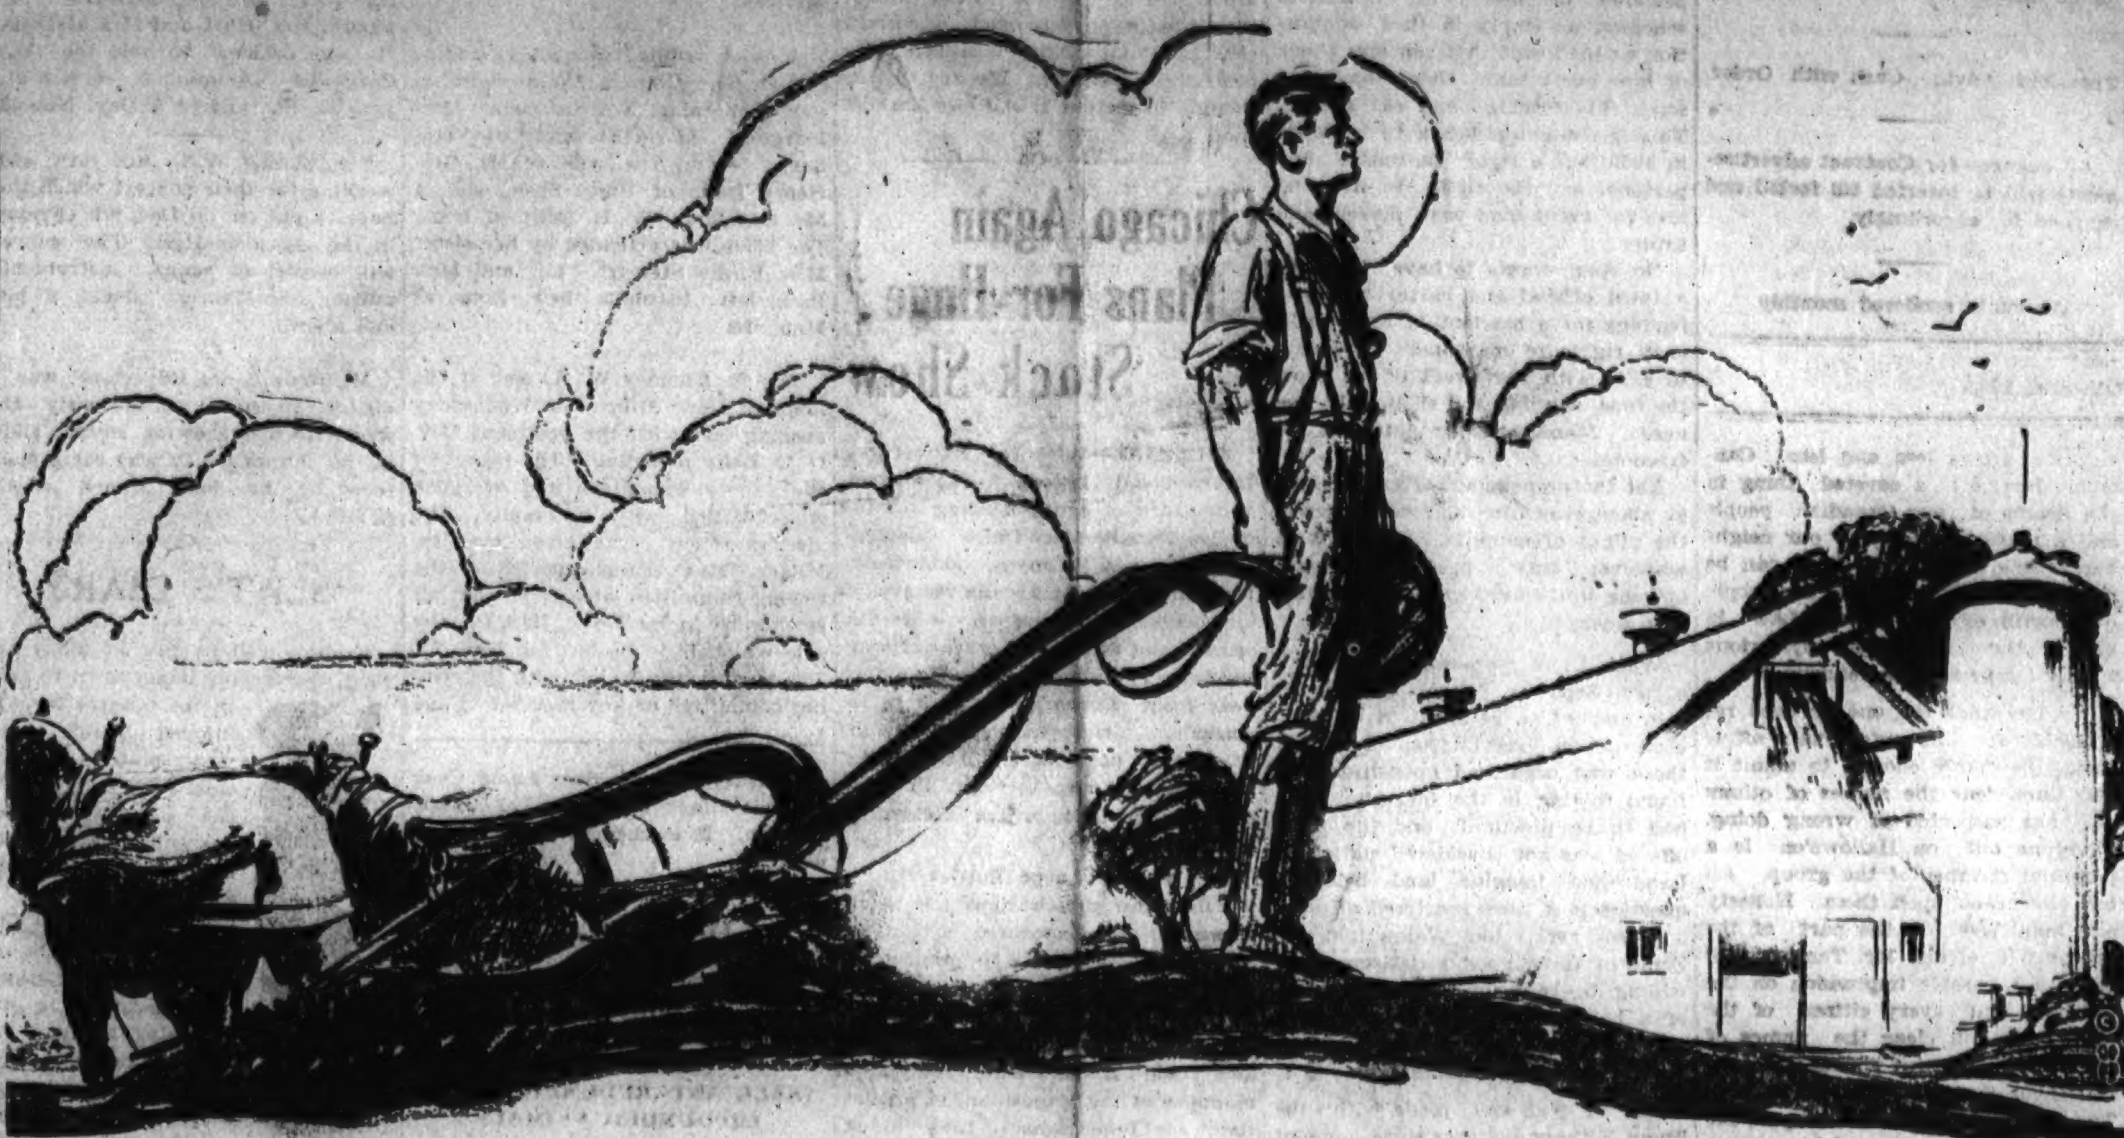

Surely on that day we can forget the money bags. The men who sleep beneath the poppies and the disabled, lame and blind deserve a better share of remembrance, and we who came back, speaking through our mouthpiece, the Canadian Legion, respectfully ask that every Wainwright merchant will play the game and close his place of business.

Secretary,
Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service
League.

Mr., Mrs. R. Ott Hold Big Dance

Soon To Commence Erection New School

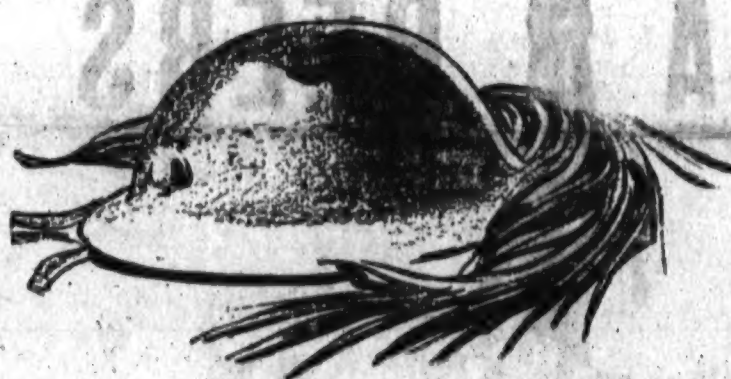

The Waterman-Waterbury Co. of Edmonton, Regina and Calgary, who specialize in building schools and furnishing school equipment, were the successful tenderers of the Wainwright Separate School. They will start work at an early date and push the construction to completion. The school will contain four large classrooms, a science room and a large auditorium. It will be 150 feet long with a wing 72 feet and will contain all the latest features of modern school designing—lighting, ventilation—as well as a very pleasing appearance. It will be of the cottage plan, similar to the new Camrose High School. The latest insulating material, known as Tentex Notch Board will be used to insure warmth and comfort and it will be floored with hardwood.

The Waterman-Waterbury Co. have built many of the better schools in Western Canada and are highly recommended by Government officials of the Department of Education, so good construction is assured.

The School Board are to be commended on the clause in the contract specifying that local labor only, be employed.

FACES EAST!

WHEN THE clock strikes that unforgettable hour of 11 o'clock on the morn of Armistice Day, let not a plow turn an inch of soil . . . nor a wheel of Commerce move . . . nor a single word be spoken. Let Silence lay her golden mantle upon every field and factory . . . every home and office. And from every human heart arise a Silent Prayer of Gratitude to those brave lads who lie under the snowy white crosses of Suresnes . . . in Flanders fields . . . in our Wainwright Cemetery . . . or in peaceful, consecrated ground nearest the homes they gave their all to defend!

Many years have passed since those valiant heroes severed the chains its very existence. Happily, since then, its very existence. Happily, since then, a greater era has dawned. Out of the roar and smoke and sweat and agony of the great conflict, mankind has reached a better understanding . . . a greater Spirit of Brotherhood that already has borne fruit in greater world Peace and Prosperity! May it last for all time!

Yet -- let's not forget the price paid for it all. Let's pay reverent homage to those sleeping heroes whose deeds in '14 to '18 covered the pages of history with glory . . . whose courage, unselfishness and love of country and flag prompted them to make the Supreme Sacrifice so that we, who remain might continue to breathe the air of Security, Freedom and Happiness! We can never repay them, but we CAN offer them a silent tribute.

Face East and breath a Thankful Prayer for them--Armistice Day!

UNFORTUNATE AFFAIR

It was with deep regret that we learned of the attack made by someone yet unknown upon one of the town's best liked and most respected citizens, Billy Tansley, on Halloween night. What might have been a very serious affair, in its last analysis, was averted by the speedy medical aid rendered Mr. Tansley after having been struck on the head by someone or other on that night and rendered unconscious. It was a bold and dastardly thing and all the citizens agree that something should be done to apprehend the culprit.

To allow this affair to go without concerted effort to find the perpetrator of this outrage, is a miscarriage of justice, it will leave the youth of the town with an unwritten tradition that at least one perfect crime was committed in Wainwright and that it can be done again.

Not many years ago a man was murdered in the precincts of Wainwright; and to this day the perpetrator has never been brought to justice. This is household talk. While we believe in the axiom that "the wheels of justice grind slowly but grind fine" nevertheless, as the years go by, the possibility of the law laying its hands on the culprit or culprit, grows less and less. Canadian Justice is a coveted thing in the hearts of our Canadian people and a matter of envy to our neighbor across the border. This can be maintained only inasmuch as the people unite with officers of the law in helping them solve the mysterious wrong doings of their fellowmen.

We feel that the one or ones responsible for this unfortunate affair should be made to admit it and thus clear the names of others who are suspected of wrong doing. Everyone out on Halloween is a potential member of the group. All feel the brand upon them. Honesty and manliness on the part of the person who struck Mr. Tansley, will make a favorable impression on the officials and every citizen of the town. It will clear the names of many other innocent youths who now feel themselves suspected of the act. The world has an innate respect for the man who admits of his wrong, and while they may denounce the evil, they will admire the manliness of one who happened to carry his fun too far.

At any rate the writer believes believes firmly that the parents are to blame. They should put a stop to the mischief of this "night of pranks" by keeping the children at home.

Have a party at home, give them their treats, but to allow them to roam the streets seeking what and who they may molest, is not right. The Council could legislate for a baner 30th of November.

BIG STUDY

The most insidious conceit is the form used by those who smile placidly before your face and do their utmost to destroy your work by underhand dealing. We have been pestered of late with wonderful schemes, as empty in their application as the heads that conceive them, of how every man should have (1) food, (2) clothing and (3) shelter. This is not a legislation to be made in 1933, but a right as innate and personal as the right to live and love for every man past, present and future.

No man wants to have to go to a town official and barter his first feelings for a handout of these ordinary rights of mankind. He wants to earn with the sweat of his brow the food, clothing and shelter that he needs. Man's only prerogative is his freedom.

Yet the propounders of socialization go about lamenting and weeping over the plight of mankind and block in whatever way possible avenues opening up to local men to work and earn a wage.

When there was talk of building a new Separate School, and a certain amount to be spent in the said construction, right from the start there was organized opposition. It found footing in the fact that land had to be procured and the price offered was not considered sufficient. Land—just imagine land being a question in a town scattered all over a given area, like Wainwright is. Some of these good socializers were willing to hold up the construction of a building—the employ of local men—for the sake of land. That was as good an excuse as any.

But a deal was made with the Town Fathers and ever since, some of them have been going around with faces long enough to drink butter milk out of the bottom of a churn because it was to be sold.

Since that date concerted effort has been brought into play to rescind the offer. We heard even that at the next meeting of the Council the motion was to be passed to have this offer cancelled. One man was so sure that it would work that he was willing to gamble a five spot of the fifty here that a school would never be built.

We have learned a lesson to turn the other cheek to the striker. The smallest schism by men with minds so narrow that their ears rub has not stopped the Trustees of the Separate School Board writing in their contract that all material and labor must be acquired locally. There or four thousand dollars floating around the town this winter should save the taxpayers much on direct relief and make many a citizen independent of the dole. We are tickled though, to see our friend lose his five spot.

Chicago Again Plans For Huge Stock Show

CHICAGO.—With the approaching International Livestock Exposition, agriculture is again heading toward the year's largest and most spectacular display of its many industries. It will be the 34th anniversary of the huge spectacle of prize livestock crops, and scores of other farming exhibits. The show will be held this year from December 2 to 9 in its permanent home which covers an area of 30 acres of exhibition halls, amphitheatre, and barns at the entrance to the Chicago live stock market.

Predict Large Entries
Entries for the various live stock classes of the Exposition closed on November 1. The large number of early entries, many of them including show herds from the leading livestock farms of this country and Canada, leads H. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the Exposition, to predict that the International Live Stock show will this year continue its annual custom of outdistancing its predecessors in the size and impressiveness of its displays.

The fact that but slight curtailments have been made in the prize lists over former years is an added attraction to owners of herds and flocks of show ring quality, he asserts. Competition is listed for 25 different breeds of live stock. They include beef cattle, draft horses, sheep and swine.

Big Crop Show Planned
This year will mark the 15th anniversary celebration of the International Grain and Hay Show, a department of the International Live Stock Exposition, but in itself the largest farm crops show in the world. The prize lists will remain substantially the same as in past years, the most important announcements. Officials of the crop show state that entries will be accepted until November 10th and may be made without cost to the exhibitor.

The 12th annual Boys and Girls Club Congress will be held in connection with the International Live Stock Show. A thousand or more 4-H Club boys and girls, all of them winners in contests at their home state fairs, will come here from 45 states.

Motor Cars or Babies?

An American Journalist's comparison is amusingly interesting

"Once in a while we meet a couple who prefer a car to a modelling baby. They calculate that they can support a car, but a baby would be too expensive. The down payment on a baby and a car are practically the same. Friends supply you with half the materials with which it is customary to swathe the child. No one gives you anything for your car save the air that inflates the tires. The car's upkeep is staggering, and consumes ten gallons of gas while the baby is draining half a pint of milk. Shoes for the car cost three times as much as ribboned moccasins for the infant. The baby won't need paint until it is sixteen years old, and that only in case of the feminine gender, while the car will need a second coat about the time the baby coos in English. "At the end of the fourth year, the car is a disgrace to the family, while the fond parents are just realising how precious baby really is. Furthermore, your baby will grow more popular every year, and around eighteen will be admired by everybody in the immediate neighbourhood. When the car has been scrapped, the boy baby will have an estate of his own and be in a position to support those who supported him.

"That sudden rush of passion that overwhelms you when the car dealer tells you what your car is worth after five years can be entirely avoided by substituting children for cars. Motto: Go in for model children instead of late model cars.

Canada's Autumn Glory

They came at a thousand-a-day clip all through October, the leaves that were giant in size or marvelous in beauty of coloring and shape, from all parts of Canada where the maple grows. The response was to the unique contest, inaugurated by the Canadian Pacific Railway with a view to encouraging interest in the Canadian autumn landscape. Prizes were offered for the largest maple leaf and for the most beautiful.

The idea was an immediate success, from the moment of its announcement. Everybody got out into the country after autumn-tinted leaves and the railway encouraged the search by operating Fall excursions. The leaves came in ever-increasing quantities to the offices of E. T. Goltis, director of exhibits, for the Canadian Pacific. The photograph shows the process of spraying and mounting the leaves.

Outstanding artists are acting as judges of the competition for the most beautiful maple leaf. They are: C. W. Simpson, R.C.A., R. W. Pilot, A.R.C.A., and James Crockett. J. M. R. Fairbairn, Chief Engineer, Canadian Pacific Railway, is judging the competition for the largest maple leaf.

In The Kitchen With Molly McGavin

To reduce or not reduce is a question to which plain common sense supplies the best answer. Over-weight can be dangerous and is almost always unattractive. On the other hand, no woman should try to lose twenty excess pounds in a week or a month. First of all she should consult her physician. Then she should reduce gradually, cutting down moderately on the total amount of foods, rather than on any one kind.

In the planning of any reducing diet due attention must be paid to the regulatory foods—bran, celery, lettuce, cabbage and other leafy vegetables—that provide the bulk the system needs to function properly. The penalty of neglecting them is frequently a shallow skin, lack-luster eyes, and the appearance of wrinkles and pimples. That is far too high a price to pay, especially when only a little thought and care are required to avoid paying it.

Bran, in addition to supplying bulk, provides vitamin B for muscle tone, and iron needed for good, red blood. It possesses the added virtue of being adapted to inclusion in the diet in a wide variety of appetizing forms.

BRAN CORN MEAL MUFFINS
3 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg (well beaten)
1 cup milk
1 cup bran
1 cup corn meal
1 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
Cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, milk, bran and corn meal. Sift flour with salt and baking powder and add to first mixture. Stir only until flour disappears. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven (375 to 400 degrees F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Provides 12 muffins.

BRAN BISCUITS

1 cup bran
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
Soak bran in milk. Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening with knives or dough blender until the mixture is like corn meal. Add bran and milk, stirring carefully with a fork until flour disappears. Turn on to floured board. Knead lightly and roll or pat into sheet 1/4 inch thick. Cut with floured cutter. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 12 minutes. Provides 16 biscuits (2 1/2 inch).

Orange Junket Charlotte

1 pkg. powder for orange junket
1 pint milk
Lady fingers
Raspberry jam
1 egg white
4 tablespoons sugar
Line sides of dessert glasses with lady fingers. Dissolve the powder for orange junket in lukewarm milk. Stir and pour into dessert glasses; let stand in warm room until firm. Chill in refrigerator. Serve with topping of meringue made by beating egg white until stiff and adding sugar. Put a little raspberry jam on top of the meringue.

A NOVEL BROWN BETTY

Here is one solution for the problem of providing a dessert which is good for the children and is eaten with equal enjoyment by the grown-ups.

Brown Betty Pudding

3 large apples, cored, pared and thinly sliced
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
5 tablespoons butter
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups Grape-Nuts Flakes
Arrange apples in greased baking dish and sprinkle with mixture of granulated sugar and cinnamon. Dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Cream remaining butter, add brown sugar gradually, and cream together thoroughly. Add salt and Grape-Nuts Flakes, and mix well. Spread lightly over apples. Bake, covered, in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes; then remove cover and continue baking 15 minutes longer, or until apples are tender. Serve warm with whipped cream, or hard sauce.

CULINARY MAGIC
A couple of lemons... some oranges. With these in the larder what are you going to do about dessert unless you take a trip to the store in the hottest part of the day? Well you would be surprised. Here are two choices and both of them delicious:

Celestine Lemon Tapioca
1 cup quick-cooking tapioca
1 teaspoon salt
1 quart boiling water
1 cup sugar
1 cup lemon juice (2 lemons)
Grated rind 1 lemon
1 cup cream, whipped
Add tapioca and salt to water, and cook in double boiler 15 minutes or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Add sugar, lemon juice, and lemon rind. Cool. Fold in whipped cream. Chill until thickened. Pile lightly in sherbet glasses. Garnish with raspberries. Serves 8.

SAINT LAZARE'S, FAMOUS PRISON, WILL DISAPPEAR

PARIS.—Memories of a medieval age began crumbling away under the picks of workmen engaged in demolishing Saint-Lazare, France's historic prison for women. Several hundred women prisoners were removed to the new Petite Roquette, which oddly was originally built to hold wayward boys.

The Saint-Lazare has had as curious a history as any structure in the world and has given its name to a large congregation of priests—the Lazarists or Vincentian Fathers, who have two large provinces in the United States. There are more than 2,600 Lazarist priests today, headed by the Very Rev. Charles Souvay, formerly of Kenrick seminary, Webster Groves, Mo.

Saint-Lazare has been an inexhaustible storehouse of material for fact and fiction writers for centuries.

It was constructed in the 12th century by monks as a hospital where devastating epidemics swept Europe. Saint Vincent de Paul used it more than 400 years later as the center of his great movement for charity and evangelization. It was from here that his Congregation of the Mission (the Lazarists or Vincentian Fathers) worked. It was then the College of St. Lazare. In 1779 it was converted into a prison, for men and women alike. No small number of innocent and guilty, condemned by the dread Commune during the French revolution, rode in tumbrils past the huge iron-studded oak door to the guillotine.

Somewhat more than fifty years ago it became a prison for women, the guards being men but the physical and spiritual welfare of the prisoners being looked after by nuns. Saint-Lazare's most noted prisoner of modern times was the dancer spy, Mata Hari, who was convicted and executed for revealing French war secrets to the enemy.

There was little on the outside of Saint-Lazare to indicate to casual passerby the purpose for which it is used. The buildings were rambling, three stories tall and not unlike thousands of other French structures.

HI-SCHOOL HI-LIGHTS

Well, I'm surprised! I thought after all your President said about handing in things to the paper I'd get tons of jokes, etc., but not one came in. What's wrong? Do you want a school paper? Next week let's see how much you can hand in, eh? Come on, we can print the paper just as soon as we can get enough to fill up the pages. Say Grade X and Grade XI what about some jokes or articles? Grade IX and XI are doing a little better but more is needed. Come on now, try, will YOU? Thanks.

THE SWASTIKA NOT "PURE GERMAN"

Not the least of the inconsistencies of the fervid Nazi super-nationalism that would cast out of Germany all that is not "pure Germanic" in origin is the "Swastika" emblem, adopted as the symbol of Teutonic purity and superiority. For the Swastika—the cross with the left-turn arms—is probably the oldest symbol of which there is historic record.

Long before the time of Christ it was used by the Chinese, the Greeks, the Hindus and the Arabs of northern Africa. It also was used in pottery designs by North American Indians.

The word "Swastika" is ancient Sanskrit, and means "Be well!" or "Good luck!"

In Canada the badge has been used for many years by the Boy Scouts as a "Thanks Badge," for presenting to those who have rendered Scouts some important service.

Following disturbances in Toronto resulting from the carrying of the Nazi emblem by demonstrators, the question was raised as to whether the wearing of the Scout Swastika should be continued. Dominion Scout Headquarters takes the position that the badge should not be taken down by those entitled to wear it, but that in case of questioning, the significance of the "Thanks Badge" should be explained, particularly the super-imposed miniature Scout Badge—the "True North" point and the two small five-point stars representing the 10 Scout Laws.

A HANDBOOK FOR BLIND SCOUTS

For the benefit of blind Scouts "Scouting for Boys," the Scout handbook throughout the British Empire, is published in Braille. It makes two large volumes. Copies were presented to different blind schools in Canada.

HUNGARIAN SKIPPER "TEAS" BRITISH SCOUTS

Perpetuating the friendly spirit of the 1933 world Scout gathering in Hungary, the Captain and officers of the Hungarian s.s. Flota, moored at King's Dock, Swansea, entertained the local Boy Scouts at tea aboard ship.

THE COMMON-PLACE BOY

A mother once owned just a commonplace boy,
A shock-headed boy,
A freckle-faced boy,
But thought he was handsome and said so with joy,
For mothers are funny, you know,
Quite so—
About their sons' beauty, you know.

His nose, one could see, was not Grecian, but pug,
And turned up quite snug,
Like the nose of a jug;
But she said it was "piquant,"
and gave him a hug;
For mothers are funny, you know,
Quite so—
About their sons' beauty, you know.

His eyes were quite small, and he blinked in the sun;
But she said it was done
As a mere piece of fun
And gave an expression of wit to her son;
For mothers are funny, you know,
Quite so—
About their sons' beauty, you know.

The curly love-locks that covered his head,
She never called red,
But Auburn instead.
"The colour the old Masters painted," she said;
For mothers are funny, you know,
Quite so—
About their sons' beauty, you know.

Now boys, when your mothers talk so, let it pass;
Don't look in the glass,
Like a vain, silly lass,
But go tend the baby, pick chips weed the grass;
Be as good as you're pretty, you know,
Quite so—
Be as good as you're pretty, you know.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, about forty guests being present.

BRUNEAU—REITAN

Saturday afternoon, Nov. 4th, the United Church parsonage, was the scene of a quiet wedding when Josie Alvina Reitan and Clifford John Bruneau, both of Irma, were joined in the bonds of holy matrimony. Rev. E. T. Armstrong officiated.

Ivan Reitan, brother of the bride, and Miss Olive Reid, were witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Bruneau will reside at Irma.

ARMITAGE—SHAW

A wedding of considerable interest was solemnized at St. Thomas Church, Wainwright, on Thursday last, November 2nd, at 1:30. The bride was attended by two bridesmaids, her sister Miss Annie Shaw and Miss Madge Armitage, sister of the groom. The girls were dressed in mauve blue silk and wore little blue hats to match.
